

DISCLAIMER

I (the user) acknowledge this application:

- has the possibility of providing incorrect results due to human errors and omissions.
- is designed for use by veterinary professionals.
- provides guidelines that may become outdated with changes in veterinary best practices.
- provides guidelines that may be subject to differences in opinion between authorities on values or calculations used.
- should not be the sole resource for clinical decisions. The veterinary professional should exercise individual judgement when making clinical decisions based on this application including referring to information from other resources when necessary.